

Tips for Girls ...

building healthy equal relationships reason. Friends listen to each other. They care about each other. Expect people you go out with to treat you like a real friend. They should like you for who you are.

Express your thoughts and feelings

You should be listened to and taken seriously.

Ups and downs

It's normal to feel hurt or angry sometimes, but in a healthy relationship, people don't yell or call each other names. Things can be worked out through talking and listening to each other.

Do your thing

Going out with someone is great but that doesn't mean you have to be together all of the time. You need your own space and interests.

Be aware

Did you know girls are more likely to be abused by someone they know - like a boyfriend - than a stranger? If you feel uncomfortable, trust your instincts and do what you can to change the situation. Hang out with friends you trust, leave when you feel unsafe, or call your parents or someone you can rely on.

Danger zone!

Some girls think that if a boy ever hits them, they'd be able to leave him. But a boy doesn't usually start hitting his girlfriend out of the blue. He may start by telling you how to dress and do your hair. He may get really jealous and try to separate you from your friends. He may insult you, yell, or break things. Watch out for these warning signs of abuse. If any of these things happen, you can talk to an adult you trust or call Kids Help Phone.

Girls aren't always treated equally

Times have changed, but girls aren't always treated equally. For example, boys might get better sports equipment, jobs, or career options. Some people think girls can't or shouldn't do certain things, just because they're girls. Speak up if you think someone's treating you unfairly because you're a girl. You have the right to be treated equally.

Get the word out

Talk to your friends about healthy equal relationships and share these tips with them. Learn more about the issue by doing a project on violence in relationships. Talk to your teacher about arranging a guest speaker to come to your school. Get involved in positive events in your community. Remind your girlfriends that they're smart and can do anything they put their minds to!
